NATIONAL CHAMPIONS, 1924-1964

The unofficial national championship was "shared" by more 1964 college football teams than in any other year. Alabama was designated the titlist by both the writers' and coaches' wire-service polls, also by the Washington Touch-down Club. But Notre Dame was the choice of the National Football Foundation and the Howard Jones Memorial Award Foundation. And after the bowl games' dust had settled, the Football Writers' Association of America named Arkansas.

The AP poll of sports writers was originated in 1936 and the UPI poll of coaches was begun in 1950. Representing the combined opinions of observers across the country, they are the most popularly accepted electors to mythical national title honors. Prior to the polls, the Rissman and Knute Rockne trophies symbolized the championship from 1924 to 1936. The titlists thus designated:

NATIONAL RATINGS, 1936-1964

The most successful major teams of the past 29 years, according to the ratings produced by the press association polls, have been Notre Dame and Oklahoma. Counting 10 points for each season-end first place rating, 9 for second and so on, the Irish have accumulated 114 points, the Sooners 94 with the rest far behind:

1. Notre Dame . . . 114	5. Texas . . . . . 64	9. Minnesota . . . 57	12. Navy . . . . . 50
2. Oklahoma . . . . 94	6. Tennessee . . . 63	10. Michigan St. . 53	14. UCLA . . . . . 40

THE GRANTLAND RICE AWARD

This post-bowl games award, representing the FWAA selection committee's title choice, was presented to UCLA in 1954, Oklahoma in 1955 and 1956, Ohio State in 1957, Iowa in 1958, Syracuse in 1959, Mississippi in 1960, Ohio State in 1961, Southern California in 1962, Texas in 1963 and Arkansas in 1964.

Oregon State would have been a routine selection. But the faculty men waited a week, and that was the week Troy surprised previously unbeaten Notre Dame in the season's most thrilling melodrama.

When Oregon State subsequently was routed in the Rose Bowl, it strengthened the conviction that the conference had selected the "wrong team." Yet it seems unlikely lasting harm was inflicted on anybody, including the Rose Bowl people. The show drew a capacity crowd, as usual.

Tommy Prothro came out of the storm with a capacity crowd, as usual. UCLA, succeeding Billy Barnes. Dee Andros switched from Idaho to Oregon State, following Prothro. Michigan celebrated all winter — or until its basketball team was beaten by UCLA for the national championship — and the faculty people acted to avoid further controversy.

In the future, the AAWU will choose its Rose Bowl team immediately after the final week of conference games.

It was a romp for Bump Elliott's Wolverines in the 1965 Rose Bowl, yet his colleagues voted Parseghian and Broyles "co-coaches of the year." Notre Dame's dramatic improvement in Parseghian's first term resulted,
